

 The diagram shows a funnel-like structure on the left with a long tube leading to a series of cylindrical components. A central vertical tube leads to a container labeled "Saravottin". Below this, another tube leads to a circular basin containing several figures. A second circular basin at the bottom also contains figures. The entire diagram is surrounded by handwritten text in the Voynich script.

The page contains several paragraphs of handwritten text in the Voynich script, interspersed with two circular illustrations of figures. The text is written in a dark ink on aged, yellowed paper. The illustrations show multiple figures in various poses, some appearing to be in a state of distress or being held.

The page number "78" is written in the upper right corner. The text is organized into several distinct sections, with some words appearing to be repeated or used as section markers.

